20 Claude prompts for December

Paste the voice line first, then any prompt below. Swap the {placeholders} and [brackets] for your details.

"You are writing for {Name}, a loan officer in {City}, {State}. Plain, friendly, local. No rates, no payment or down payment figures, no loan terms, no guarantees."

CAPTIONS AND CAROUSELS

1. Rewrite this caption in my voice. Here are three posts I wrote myself: [paste]. Keep it under 80 words. Caption: [paste].
2. Turn this caption into a 5-slide carousel: one headline per slide, 12 words max each, and a last slide with a call to action.
3. Give me 10 scroll-stopping first lines for a post about [topic] aimed at first-time buyers in {City}.
4. Write a post explaining [mortgage term] to someone who has never bought a home. Use one everyday comparison.
5. Check this post for anything that states a rate, payment, down payment amount or loan term, or promises approval. List each issue and suggest a fix: [paste].

FED WEEK (8–9 DEC)

6. Here is the Fed's statement: [paste]. Write a 30-second reel script saying what it means for buyers and for homeowners. No predictions.
7. Write 3 story slides telling my followers when the Fed decision lands and that I'll explain it the next day.

FIRST-TIME BUYERS

8. Write a 7-day DM sequence for someone who replied READY to my checklist post. One short message per day, ending with an invitation to a 15-minute call.
9. Turn this client question into a helpful post, without using their name: [paste question].
10. List the 10 questions first-time buyers ask me most in December, with a one-line answer to each.
11. Write a post about down payment assistance in {State} that encourages people to ask, without naming amounts or promising eligibility.

HOMEOWNERS

12. Write a friendly year-end check-in text to past clients that wishes them happy holidays and offers a free equity review. Under 50 words.
13. Write a post for homeowners on what to keep for tax season, pointing them to a tax professional for advice.

REFERRAL PARTNERS

14. Write a thank-you post for local agents and title partners. No gifts or offers tied to referrals.
15. Write a short email to a real estate agent I want to work with, introducing how I keep their buyers updated during a loan.

TRUST AND PERSONAL

16. Interview me with 5 questions about why I became a loan officer, then turn my answers into a 100-word post.
17. Turn these notes into a client story with first names only: [notes]. Remind me to get the client's permission before posting.
18. Write my 2026 year-in-review reel script from these numbers and moments: [paste].

PLANNING

19. From my last 10 posts, tell me which pillar I'm neglecting and give me 3 post ideas to fix it: [paste].
20. Build a January 2027 posting plan, one line per day, mixing education, first-time buyers, homeowners, partners and personal posts.

Always have your compliance team review posts before they go live. LoanSocial is a marketing content service and does not give legal or compliance advice.

Want 30 ready-made posts and captions every month? Start a 7-day free trial at loansocial.github.io